Precautionary measures on pneumonia cases of novel coronavirus infections (Detected in Wuhan)

Kwoon Chung Bus Group issued separate notice in January to office staff and bus captains to draw their attention to this disease detected in Wuhan and the precautionary measures to prevent infection. Employee has to seek medical advice immediately if having a fever or respiratory symptoms.

The Group has also strengthened the cleanliness and hygiene of bus compartments. Posters were displaced inside the buses and at the stations to raise the awareness of passengers to maintain good personal hygiene; they have to cover their noses and mouths with tissue paper when sneezing or coughing and to dispose of soiled tissues/masks properly to help prevent spread of the disease.

The Group will monitor the situation of the disease and will step up the measures when necessary to ensure health and safety of employees and passengers.
